FACULTY BIOS

KEITH ANCTIL has been acting and teaching theater professionally in Maine for ten years. When he's not performing, Keith works at Wescott Jr. High in Westbrook, where he is the founder of the Wescott Theater Company, as well as working as a drama instructor at Breakwater School and Cheverus High School.

KYM DAKIN has credits that span from television and animation, to Broadway and national tours. She was a member of Mad Horse for many years and on the original teaching staff at Acorn School. She has recorded hundreds of voiceovers, well over a dozen audiobooks, and in 2006 she won the Audie award for Runaway by Alice Munro.

RACHEL FLEHINGER has been teaching for many years, first in New York City and now Maine. Her students can be seen on film, Broadway and stage throughout the country. She has studied at George Washington University, Brooklyn College, and The Michael Howard Studio with Larry Singer.

MICHAEL LEVINE has been teaching acting in Portland since the mid-90's. He is a graduate of M.I.T. where he studied with A.R. Gurney, Kristen Linklater, and Shakespeare and Company. He is the founder of Acorn Productions, the director of the Naked Shakespeare series, and a former freshmen English teacher at Gorham High School.

STEPHANIE ROSS has been directing and teaching acting in Maine for the past 7 years. She has worked onstage and in film in New York City and New England. She holds a BFA from New York University's Tisch School of the Arts where her acting teachers included Felicity Huffman, William H. Macy and David Mamet.
